Aveiro Tech City Bootcamp

FAQs

FAQs

First and foremost, what is the Aveiro Tech City Bootcamp?

Aveiro Tech City Bootcamp is a DGERT certified training in Java and JavaScript, taught on weekdays, from 9am to 7pm, over fourteen weeks in classroom, and fourteen weeks on job.

Who can apply for Aveiro Tech City Bootcamp?

Students, unemployed people or professionals who wish to change career path. Each edition will have 20 participants.

What degree is required?

None. We are looking for wonderful minds whether or not they have a certification to confirm it.

Do I need previous programming experience?

No. The formative entity is more than ready to get you started in the logical arts of programming and algorithmic thinking. However, there is a "but". Participants should be able to read, write and speak in English as it is the universal code language.

How can I apply?

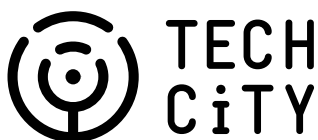

Signing up for Aveiro Tech City Bootcamp is incredibly easy and fast. You just need to access our online application form (<http://www.aveirotechcity.pt>) and fill in the required information. Registration will close at 11:59 pm on November 30, 2019.

Is there any associated cost?

Yes. In case of selection, participants should pay 600,00€ (six hundred euros). This investment represents only a part of the real cost of this training, which totals 6,000.00€ (six thousand euros). The rest will be paid by the City of Aveiro and sponsors (local companies).

What are the employability prospects after training?

In addition of being a specialized training in a high employability area (>90%), each participant will have the opportunity to experience a working context and, at the end of the programme, if they successfully complete the course, the participants will have a job offer for a Junior Developer position in one of our sponsor companies. This position will be a minimum 12 months' contract and a minimum monthly gross salary of 1,000.00€ (one thousand euros).

Can't wait to be selected! What happens after I sign up?

Participants will be notified on January 15th, 2020 by email, regardless whether they have been selected or not.

How will participants be selected?

The twenty participants will be selected according to their motivation and their professional / academic background.

If selected, can I give up at any time?

Participants are free to give up at any time, however, they will lose the 600,00 € (six hundred euros) registration costs and will have to reimburse the organization in the amount of 5,400,00€ (five thousand four hundred euros). So, if you are selected, when you make the registration, be sure that you really want this!

If I successfully complete the course and accept the job offer, can I later give up?

Participants are required to fulfill the 12 months of the employment contract. If they intend to end this contract earlier, they will have to reimburse the organization in the amount of 5,400.00€ (five thousand four hundred euros).
